Summer hours
The library is open 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. on Saturdays during the summer and closed on Sundays. Our full weekend schedule resumes after Labor Day.

One-on-one instruction
Computer instruction is available by appointment in the Computer Center. Call 883-4400, Ext. 171 for further information or to reserve a 1-hour time slot.

Library at the LIRR
The library will be on-site at the Port Washington station Wednesday mornings (weather permitting) from 7 to 9 a.m. through September 3. A collection of popular paperbacks will be available for you to borrow. This program is funded by the Friends of the Library.

Do we have your e-mail address?
In an effort to spread the word on library programs and services to all, teen volunteers will be collecting e-mail addresses on Fridays in August. Look for a table in the lobby between 12 and 2 p.m. You also have the option of logging on to www.pwpl.org and clicking on “receive e-mail alerts.”

Forum on holiday decorations
Some members of the public were unhappy with the library’s new policy that allows only seasonal displays in December and asked the Board of Trustees to reconsider the decision. The Board would like to hear the community’s point of view on Wednesday, September 3 at 7:30 p.m. There will be no action taken at this meeting, but all comments are welcome. Individual comments will be limited to 3 minutes.

Attention book clubs
Watch the September newsletter for a special event — the introduction of our “Book Club in a Bag” kits. Chef Frank Miale shares the spotlight, and creates his incredible, edible tidbits. This is sure to be an afternoon delight you won’t want to miss.

The greening of the PWPL

The Port Washington Public Library uses green cleaning products throughout the building, and an organic landscaping program was launched this spring. In addition, we continue to move ahead with energy conservation projects.

As shown in the table above, just the simple act of changing lightbulbs to new energy-efficient products, will save the library 41,209 kilowatt hours per year or 412,090 over the next ten years. The result is a savings of $9,066 a year and over $90,000 over a ten-year period. These steps will avoid the production of more than 39,000 pounds of carbon dioxide a year and 391,000 over the next decade. Analysis provided by T.M. Bier, Associates.

The steps taken so far bring the PWPL closer to its goal of being an environmentally-friendly “green building.”

Port’s Main Street Online

Port Washington’s Main Street is more than a location. It evokes memories of schools, businesses, transportation, parades, parks, celebrations and community events. It is associated with traditions that have their roots in the founding of our town.

Through a special online project of the Long Island Library Resources Council, our library’s Local History Center has created a digital storehouse featuring Main Street as it appears in postcards, photographs, maps, documents and unique historical ephemera. Visit our website to access a wealth of digitized images and text.

Elly Shodell, director of the Local History Center, points out that the project allows us to provide access to these materials for people who might not be able to visit in person. Showcasing the library’s local history collections and archives, Main Street Online, with its 100+ images (and growing), is the first stage of a planned multi-subject Port Washington Public Library Local History Project.

Roadwise Review

Now you can check your driving abilities conveniently and confidentially from the comfort of home. The Roadwise Review CD-ROM from AAA can be used on your home computer so that you can monitor your “driving health.” Copies are available in the Media Department.

How to raise your resume IQ

- SELL, DON'T TELL: Stress the results or outcomes of what you do on the job, not just the doing.
- USE NUMBERS to indicate breadth and scope whenever possible; how much, how many, how large can be impressive.
- DON'T BURY IMPORTANT SKILLS at the bottom of the resume; especially if they relate specifically to a job you are applying for.
- STAY AWAY FROM TIRED PHRASES like “responsible for.” Start with an action verb that tells what you did.
- START WITH A “SUMMARY” OR “PROFILE” SECTION which tells your reader what your occupation is and what your top skills are.

Foundation Board inducts new president

Way to go, PCHP!
The Port Washington Public Library’s Parent-Child Home Program had a wonderful year. We graduated six families from the program, two of our families received the honor of ringing the closing bell at the New York Stock Exchange, we had an article published in the PCHP newsletter about one of our Home Visitors, Ferosa Plotkin, and we ended the year with all 15 PCHP families getting refurbished working computers, loaded with Microsoft Office, games and internet capabilities. The Parent-Child Home Program is funded by the Port Washington Library Foundation and the Judith C. White Foundation.

Visit our neighborhoods
We’re trying a new approach to marketing our non-fiction collection. By gathering titles of interest to you and grouping them in “neighborhoods,” our goal is to make specific library materials more easily accessible. Check out our “Build It Yourself” section in the circulating book room. The “Tank-Friendly Trips” neighborhood in the lobby features titles that offer vacation destinations that won’t deplete your gas budget for the year. Our plan is to rotate the neighborhoods seasonally so that you can find what you want when you want it!

The Next Chapter
If you’re a boomer, a senior or a lifelong learner interested in joining a lively group of peers to discuss current events and topical issues, we’ve got a place for you! The group meets twice a month on Saturday mornings for coffee, cookies and conversation. Nassau Library System intern and social worker in training Scott Zotto facilitates the discussion, which is co-sponsored by the library and the Nassau Library System/Senior Connections. Join us August 9 and 23 from 11 a.m. to 12:30 p.m.

AAC members exhibit their work
The Art Advisory Council Members’ Exhibition continues throughout the summer. Be sure to visit our Main Gallery on the lower level to view an eclectic range of styles. The AAC is one of the library’s five volunteer advisory councils. For more than 30 years, members have evaluated, scheduled, curated and installed the library’s monthly exhibitions. Summer is their chance to shine!

Government documents offer practical information for daily living
The Reference Room maintains a comprehensive collection of directories, manuals, documents, maps and clippings covering a wide range of subjects at every level of government. In addition to federal directories, guides and budgets, we can provide information on contacting your government representatives, supply you with voter registration forms and absentee ballot applications, and direct you to local government and social services offices. We have publications on emergency management and evacuation procedures, and our map file includes FEMA Long Island flood maps. We receive New York State financial reports and planning documents. On a more local level, we have a wealth of material on issues of environmental and civic interest. The Town of North Hempstead provides us with codes and ordinances, proposed and final budgets, and zoning maps. Our villages and special districts are also represented in our collection. We receive documents, policy statements, budgets and publications from the Villages of Baxter Estates, Manorhaven, Port Washington North and Sands Point. Special districts such as the Water, Fire, Police, Garbage and Water Pollution Control Districts provide us with information and reports. The School District is well represented with a comprehensive collection of budgets, newsletters, meeting minutes, calendars and handbooks. Our own library document collection includes board minutes, newsletters, statistical reports, copies of policies and procedures and historical items.

Please call the Reference Desk at 883-4400, Ext. 111 with your questions, or e-mail us at reference@pwpl.org.
Do you have a library card?

Take advantage of all the library has to offer. If you don’t already have a library card, apply today— in person or online (www.pwpl.org, and click on “get a library card”).

The Port Washington Public Library has something for everyone. Beyond the traditional reference services, books and book clubs, we offer programs and services for all ages and interests.

Our special collections and services are varied, and the library is a WiFi “Hot Spot,” providing free Internet access to users of laptops and handheld devices capable of receiving wireless signals.

The library’s award-winning monthly newsletter and calendar of events is mailed free of charge to every address in Port Washington. It provides program listings and short articles (like the one you’re reading now) about what’s happening at the library.

For further information, log on to our website 24 hours a day at www.pwpl.org or, better yet, stop by. You’ll be impressed with all your library has to offer.

Library dedicates benches

Benches were installed at the front of the library to honor Joan G. Kent, former president of the library Board of Trustees, and Eric Pick, former chairman of the Art Advisory Council, for their many years of library service. Pictured above are Library Trustee Myron Blumenfeld, Joan Kent, Emily Frankel, executive assistant to Canton, and Councilman Fred Pollack, Library Director Nancy Curtin, Eric Pick and Evelyn Pick. The benches were paid for by a private donation.

Port history comes alive in library publication

A recent printing of one of the library’s most popular publications is available to the public. “Particles of the Past: Sandmining on Long Island, 1870s-1980s” traces the compelling history of Port Washington’s sandminers and their families, using oral history and photographs to document their lives. It is available for sale at the Circulation Desk.

Are we there yet?
Pick up an audio book and turn up the volume. Here are some new titles to make the car ride seem shorter.

Behind the Curtain by Peter Abrahams; read by Colleen Delaney. An avid Sherlock Holmes fan, eighth grader Ingrid Levin-Hill is kidnapped while investigating mysterious happenings in her home town. (YA FIC Abrahams CD)

The Sky Inside by Clare B. Dunkle; read by Bruce Turk. Martin lives in a domed suburb. Every year a new generation of children arrives on a conveyer belt to meet their parents. But when a man arrives to take a group of children away, including Martin’s sister Cassie, he decides to find out what is beyond the dome and why his sister was taken away. (YA FIC Dunkle CD)

In Search of Mockingbird by Loretta Ellsworth; read by Jessica Almasy. On the eve of her 16th birthday, Erin receives her long-dead mother’s diary, which reveals that she too revered Harper Lee’s To Kill a Mockingbird and wanted to be a writer. Erin impulsively decides to take the Greyhound bus from St. Paul, Minnesota to Monroeville, Alabama, to visit the reclusive author. (YA FIC Ellsworth CD)

Mistik Lake by Martha Brooks; read by Katie MacNichol. After Odella’s mother leaves her family in Manitoba and moves to Iceland with another man, she then dies there, and the family finally learns some of the many secrets that have haunted them for two generations. (YA FIC Brooks CD)

Double or Die by Charlie Higson; read by Nathaniel Parker. After receiving a suspicious letter at Eton, young James Bond goes on a mission to find a kidnapped professor whose escape is vital to world security. (YA FIC Higson CD)

Miss Spitfire: Reaching Helen Keller by Sarah Miller; read by Terry Donnelly. At age 21, partially-blind, lonely but spirited Annie Sullivan travels from Massachusetts to Alabama to try and teach 6-year-old Helen Keller, deaf and blind since age 2, self-discipline and communication skills. (YA FIC Miller CD)

Sunrise Over Fallujah by Walter Dean Myers; read by JD Jackson. Robin Perry, from Harlem, is sent to Iraq in 2003 as a member of the Civilian Affairs Battalion. His time there profoundly changes him. (YA FIC Myers CD)

Wintersmith by Terry Pratchett; read by Stephen Briggs. When witch-in-training Tiffany Aching accidentally interrupts the Dance of the Seasons and awakens the interest of the elemental spirit of Winter, she requires the help of the 6-inch-high, sword-wielding, sheep-stealing Wee Free Men to put the seasons aright. (YA FIC Pratchett CD)
